Dunard Primary and Nursery Class

marks WWF Earth Hour 28 March 2014.

At Assembly this week we learned about our amazing planet and how the charity WWF helps to look after it. We learned that at 8.30pm on 29 March, millions of people will switch off their lights across the UK and around the world for Earth Hour. It's a chance to look up to the stars and think about the one thing we all have in common – our brilliant planet. It's also a chance to shine a light on the things we love and want to protect.

How are we going to mark Earth Hour in Dunard?

The Eco Committee voted and decided to mark this special day on 28 March 2014 in the following ways:

- Dress up in bright, shiny or sparkly clothes and pay £1 or a small donation to the charity WWF. The brighter the better but no football colours please. Joyce and two nursery children will dress up as stars and visit the classes to collect donations.
- Each class will make a poster, drawing or painting about Earth Hour and our planet to decorate the ECO wall in the hall.
- Each class will be given 5 stars on which they will write a wish to help look after our precious planet.
- Each class will show their support for Earth Hour by switching off the lights and not using electricity for a time in class. The whole nursery is going to out for half an hour in the morning and in the afternoon.
- Alice and Emma P7 Eco Reps will make a presentation and share with us at assembly on 27 March 2014.

Thank you for your support with these ideas. You might like to join in with Earth Hour at home by switching off your lights and electricity at home on 29 March 2014.
